ITALIANS SWEEP AUSTRIANS BACK

Frightful Bombardment Followed by Onrush of Foot Troops

700 CANNON AT WORK

Soldiers of Francis Joseph Demolished by Precipitate Attack—Trenches Full of Dead.

Milan, Oct. 25.—News brought here by officers coming from the front is that the Italian offensive in the Trentino and Carso regions promises better results than that which resulted in only the partial possession of Mount Saint Michele.

The second offensive was begun when 700 guns of every calibre, including two thirteen-inch batteries began bombarding the Austrian positions from Caporetto to the eastern slopes of Mount St. Michele, a distance of 6 miles. The artillery preparation lasted for 47 hours, during which every trench, redoubt and barbed-wire entanglement on the Austrian front were under fire without interruption. The heavier guns, which were carefully concealed behind the Isonzo, confined their bombardment to the forts of Malborghetto and the strong defensive works of Gorizia, So intense was this fire that the Austrians were compelled to remove their batteries to positions behind natural bulwarks.

The infantry advance began early on Thursday morning. The Austrians were utterly demoralized and stunned by the precipitate onrush of the Italian foot troops.

In making their advance the Italian troops were protected by a new shield, which greatly reduced the deadly effect of the enemy's machine gun and rifle fire.

The Austrian trenches were found to be full of dead and wounded. This explains the comparatively small number of prisoners taken. During the whole time the Austrians remained on the defensive.

Italian officers add that they will go very near to Gorizia, though the results of the offensive there cannot be predicted at this time.

It is the belief of the majority of the officers attached to the general staff, however, that the strongest position defending Gorizia, will certainly fall before the Italian onslaught as the preparations made for the attack have been most minute and the morale of the troops is of the highest order. Moreover, the Italian chief in command, Gen. Cardona, realizes that the Isonzo line must be taken before the rainy season opens.

The Duke de Aosta and the King both were present during the prosecution of this offensive.

TO ATTEMPT LONG FLIGHT

Aviator Plans Trip From Albany To Cape Hatteras.

New York, Oct. 25.—Seeking the Curtis prize, Beryl A. Kendrick, the sportsman aviator of Atlantic City, will attempt a flight from Albany, N. Y., to Cape Hatteras, N.C., a distance of approximately 750 miles, some time this week, according to a notice received from him by the contest committee of the Aero Club of America.

Mr. Kendrick, who will use the 100-horsepower Curtis flying boat with which he has been carrying passengers all summer at Atlantic City, has shipped his machine to Albany, and will spend the next two days assembling it and "tuning up" the motor. While at Atlantic City the demand for flights was so great that Mr. Keidrick was compelled to use the machine not only each day, but on every moonlight night, so that the machine will now have its first overhauling.

The flight, which is the longest thus far undertaken in the competition for the Curtis marine flying trophy, will be down the Hudson river, and along the coast of New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina to Cape Hatteras.

It will be necessary to take on fuel twice during the trip, Mr. Kendrick says, first at Bay Head, N. J., and later in the afternoon at Ocean City, Md., and is is understood that the distance will be covered within 10 hours

GEDMAN CRUISER SUNK

British Submarine Attacks Vessel in the Baltic

Petrograd, Oct. 25—A British submarine has sunk a German cruiser of the Prince Adalbert type near Libau according to an official statement.

There are but two ships of the Prince Adalbert class on the German naval list. They are the Friedrich Karl, laid down in June 1901, and the Prinz Adalbert, the construction of which was begun in 1901. They are 393 feet long and of 9,050 tons equip placement.

The ships are identical in armor and armament, carrying a main battery of four 8.2 inch and ten 6 inch guns. They are but lightly armored the heaviest strip being four-inch amidship. Both ships in peace time carry a complement of 557 men and officers and had four torpedo tubes three being submerged.

The Prinz Friedrich Karl was reported sunk several months ago.

BISHOP JOINS KNIGHTS

Received Into Richmond Council at Largest Meeting of Order Ever Held in State.

Richmond, Oct. 25.— Rev. D. J. O'Connell, Bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Richmond, was received in to Richmond Council Knights of Columbus, at a meeting yesterday afternoon, which was attended by the largest gathering of the order ever held in Virginia. More than 500 knights from Richmond and other sections of the State were present to witness the reception of the bishop and to greet Supreme Knight James F. O'Flaherty, of Philadelphia.

The supreme knight welcomed the bishop as a member of the order, and spoke of the high honor given Richmond Council in receiving so distinguished a clergyman. With Bishop O'Connell added to its membership Richmond Council looks upon this year as the most prosperous in its history.

The council unanimously indorsed the report of the committee on religious prejudice made at the supreme convention in Seattle, in which the Knights of Columbus set forth their attitude on civil allegiance, the public school and social problems. They declare their allegiance to the President of the United States and regard him as "supreme in all that concerns our civil and political life, just as we owe allegiance to the Pope as the head of our church, and regard him as supreme in all that concerns our religion." The Knights of Columbus assert that much of the intolerance that arises at times throughout the country is due in large part to a lack of knowledge of the attitude of Catholics toward the civil government and the public schools.

PAN-GERMANISTIC EMPIRE PLANNED

Berlin Sees Only Continuation of Country's Evolution

TO ABSORB AUSTRIA

Teutons Say They Would Unite Work Against England, Russia and the United States.

Berlin, Oct. 25. —In a pamphlet just issued Paul Lensch, a Social Democratic member of the Reichstag describes the dreams of the Pan-Germanistic Social Democracy for a Greater Germany. Laying particular stress on the necessity of the absorption of Austria by the German empire, the writer says:

"When we speak of Germany we understand the present Germany and Austria-Hungary united into one German empire. The birth of this real Germany is to be the outcome of this war, which alone contains all the essential conditions of the solution of the German question."

Lensch says the evolution of Germany falls in three separate stages—1866, 1870, and 1914. He shows how the two sections of Germany, the German empire and Austria-Hungary have proved too weak to fulfill Germany's historic mission in the world and says that out of the greater Prussia created by the war against Austria in 1866 and of the little Germany which was the outcome of the Franco-Prussian War, in 1870-71 must evolve the Greater Germany of the future.

The evolution which began in 1866 and which moved forward another step in 1870, when the North and South German states were united, is still going on. Those who saw in the events of 1870 a definite solution of the German question, and who looked upon Austria as a foreign state like all the others, were mistaken. The evolution of Germany cannot be stopped, and the present war has opened the eyes of many to the real significance of the war in 1870, which, far from being an end, was merely a continuation. The great work is to be fully accomplished by the present war when the last third of the Germans who were separated in 1866 join hand with the others and the birth of the great German empire, Germany proper and Austria, becomes an established fact.

This Greater Germany, however, is to be merely the nucleus of "German Central Europe," Herr Lensch insists and proceeds to explain how the smaller states need a great power to safeguard them. Thus, "German Central Europe" may easily and naturally evolve into a "federation of Central European states" under the German aegis. This, he insists, will be the only means of protecting the smaller states of Contral Europe against the "rapacity and greed" of the great world powers, England, Russia and the United States of America. Besides the United Germany and Austria-Hungary, this federation should comprise the Scandinavian states, Switzerland, Holland, Italy the Balkan Peninsula, with European Turkey and, if possible, France, Spain and Portugal, with all the colonies of these countries.

WILL PHONE TO FRANCE

Soon Be as Regular as the Cable, Declares H. F. Shreeve.

Paris, Oct. 25.—The experiments in transatlantic wireless telephony failed last June presumably because the atmospheric conditions necessitated a change in the transmitter at the United States government wireless station at Arlington, Va., says H. E. Shreeve,

"What we have accomplished, however, definitely proves that wireless telephony between France and America may soon become as regular a means of communication as the cable is now."

USES HIS PEG LEG

Unstapping Wooden Support, Alien Prisoner Tries to Brain His Captor

India, Pa., Oct 25—Robbery and a unique assault with a wooden leg with intent to maim, are crimes to which George Barco, of Heilwood, a "pegleg" alien, has pleaded guilty and must stand trial to fix his sentence at the coming Court of General Sessions.

Unfastening his wooden leg and using if for a weapon, Barco made a murderous attack upon County Detective Josiah Neal, of this place while the foreigner and four of his countrymen were being brought to the county jail in an automobile. Ducking his head as the blow descended, Detective Neal escaped a crushed skull and prevented the probable death of the other occupants of the machine, which was on the edge of a high embankment when the attack was made.

Barco and his companions were arrested for stealing a flock of turkeys from the farm of Warren Buterbaugh of Cherryhill township, and Detective Neal started to Indiana with the prisoners in his machine.

While ascending the steep Heilwood hill, Barco, who was in the rear seat unfastened his wooden leg and grasping it by the foot, made a vicious swing at the officer's head with the unusual weapon. Neal saw him just in time to duck and receive the blow on his shoulder.

As the blow struck, the machine swerved and almost went over the high embankment before Neal could regain control of it.

At the point of a revolver Detective Neal made the other prisoners roll up their trousers, to be sure that there were no morr wooden legs in the party.

UPHOLDS THE EXECUTION

Germany Says Sex is No Shield For Offenders Against Kaiser

WOMEN ALSO LIABLE

Miss Cavell's Death Regrettable, But Just Says an Official Statement From Berlin.

Berlin, Oct. 25—Dr. Alfred F. M. Zimmermann, German Under-Secretary for Forbign Affairs, in an official explanation of the recent execution in Belgium of Miss Edith Cavell, the British nurse, declared that he had examined every bit of the evidence with great care, and found the verdict though regrettable to be just. His statement follows:

"I see by the British and the American press that the shooting of an English woman and the conviction of several other women in Brussels for treason have created a great impression, and that we are being severely criticized. It is, indeed, hard that a woman must be executed, but remember, to what shall a state commit which is in war if it allows to pass unnoticed a crime against the safety of its armies because committed by women. No lawbook in the world, least of all those dealing with war regulations, makes such a differentiation and the feminine sex has but one preference, according to legal usage namely, that women in a delicate condition may not be executed. Otherwise man and woman are equal before the law, and only the degree of guilt makes a difference in the sentence for crime and its consequences.

"In the Cavell case I have reviewed the decision of the court and examined the evidence down to the esmallest details. The result is so convicting and all the circumstances are so clear and convincing that no court-martial in the world would have reached any other decision. For it concerns not the act of one single person rather, it concerns a well-thought-out world-wide conspiracy, which succeeded for nine months to render the most valuable services to the enemy to the disadvantage of our army. Countless British, Belgian and French soldiers now again are fighting in the allied ranks who owe their escape from Belgium to the activity of the band, now sentenced at the head of which stood Miss Cavell. With such a situation under the very eyes of the authorities, only the utmost severity can bring relief, and the government violates the most elemental duty toward the army and its safety that does not adopt the strictest measures. These duties in war are greater than any other."

DENOUNCE STATE BOARD.

Factional War in Labor Ranks in Virginia Increases.

Richmond, Oct. 25.—The factional war in the ranks of the trades unions increases in intensity. Following the attack on the administration of Labor Commissioner James B. Doherty by Emmett C. Davison, former president of the State Federation; the attack on Howard T. Colvin, candidate for Doherty's office, who is charged with being the candidate of the Socialists; the attack on Davison by President Richardson, of the American Federation of Railroad Workers, who charges Davison with disloyalty to Samuel Gompers and the American Federation of Labor, and other animated episodes, comes an attack on the executive board of the State federation by the Richmond Central Trades and Labor Council.

The council has adopted resolutions denouncing the executive board for giving its indorsement to Commissioner Doherty. A majority of the Richmond labor unions have indorsed Colvin's candidacy. The Typographical Union has indorsed M. R. Pace. Doherty's friends claim that he has the indorsement of twice as many unions throughout the State as the number giving indorsements to the other two.

GERMAN INVASION HALTED

Russians Recovering Munitions in Enormous Quantities

Petrograd Oct. 25—It is no longer possible to resist the rapidly accummulating evidence that the Austro-German invasion of Russia has been brought to a final standstill; that it has reached the high water mark beyond which it will never advance. It is now even doubtful whether the enemy has any serious hopes of crossing the Dvina and whether his attack in the direction of Riga is not intended merely to mask a transition to the defensive plans rendered necessary by his repeated checks and the collapse of his striking force.

The great Austro-German aggressive on this side was rendered possible only by the superabundance of ammunition on the side of the enemy and the almost complete absence of it in Russia. Now the tables are turned.

While Russia does not yet command all the arms and ammunition which she has men, the improvement in supplies has been prodigious and still continues constantly with accelerating speed. The work of equipping and ammunitioning the armies is being done thoroughly and with foresight. Not only has the production been enormously extended and vast external resources been organized, but the whole business of supply has been simplified, speeded up and cleansed of corruption.

Miss Foltz Attacked by Unidentified Man

Martinsburg, W. Va., Oct 25—Miss Cozie Foltz, the 16-year-old daughter of Prof. C. W. Foltz of Foltz, this county, was assaulted at her home Saturday afternoon and left for dead by a man whose identity has not been established.

The girl had gone to the barn to get a team to drive to Bedington, where she was to have met her father. The man suddenly emerged from his place of concealment and struck her a violent blow on the left temple, rendering her unconscious. Evidently thinking he had killed her, the man fled. Women in the house becoming alarmed at the girl's absence went in search of her and found her in the barn. She was carried to the house and medical aid summoned, but she did not recover consciousness until this morning.

Miss Foltz is a member of the senior class of the Martinsburg High School. She is now able to sit up and is expected to recover.

POWER PLANT DESTROYED

Mysterious Fire Last Night at Du Pont Powder Company's Plant at Hopewell.

Norfolk, Oct. 25.—Fire supposed to have been of incendiary origin destroyed two power plants of the Du Pont Powder Company at Hopewell, Va., last night, but the flames were checked before they reached the main buildings.

The blaze was discovered at 10 o'clock and the entire department maintained by the Du Pont company, with a number of volunteers, responded to the alarm.

One plant was completely destroyed in less than an hour after the blaze started, and the flames spread to the second building, which was also destroyed.

The loss is estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000.

Officers of the Du Pont company declined to discuss the probable origin of the fire, but is is reported that the blaze was started by an incendiary, whose apparent object was to cripple the entire plant by destroying the buildings which furnish the power for making gun cotton and acids used in shells of large calibre.

With Petersburg only a few miles away, the Du Pont authorities did not ask for assistance in fighting the fire. Only the employes of the company were permitted o enter the property to fight the flames, and all approaches are guarded by armed men.

FRENCH AND SERBS STRIKE BULGARS

Allies Said to Have Broken Offensive at Veles, Serbia

BREAK IN DISORDER

Denial in Semi-Official Note That Greece Has Occupied any Part of Serbian Territory.

Athens, Oct. 25—Bulgaria's offensive in Serbia has been broken at Veles, Salonika advices said today.

The French and Serb forces are said to have united at Kirivolak and struck at the invaders' left wing. The Bulgars retreated in disorder on Straumnitza, pursued by the Franco-Serb troops.

Pojarevac advices say the Germans also are on the defensive.

The French defeated the Bulgarians on Sunday along a front from Ordovo to Krivolak, after a twenty four hour battle. The Bulgarians fell back on Rabrovo with heavy losses. The French, pursuing, later occupied Rabrovo. They are still chasing the Bulgarians, it is stated.

That Greece has occupied any Serbian territory, as reported, is denied in a semi-official note.

Sofia. Oct 25—The Bulgarian troops have completely conquered Uskup, the chief Serbian town on the railway between Nish and Salonika, according to an official statement given out here. The entire town is now in possession of the Bulgarians.

London, Oct. 25—The Bulgarians, by their capture of Uskup, have placed themselves across the route by which the Allies' reinforcements for the Serbs would travel.

The Austro-Germans, in the north have begun a more vigorours offensive and have crossed the Danube near Orsova. This brings much nearer the linking up of the armies of the Germanic allies and those of Bulgaria and the opening of the way through Bulgaria to Constantinople.

Success is not being achieved without heavy losses, as the Serbian veterans, who intrenched in their mountains, are offering stubborn resistance and are making the invaders pay a big price for every mile of country invaded.

Paris, Oct. 25—A dispatch from Athens to the Havas News Agency says it is understood at Salonika that the Entente Allies plan to make a landing on the Bulgarian coast in the Aegean Sea at Porto Lagos.

Berlin, Oct. 25—The Serbian campaign, according to all information reaching Berlin, is progressing favorably for the Central Powers, although the operations are retarded by bad weather and, like the section south of Belgrade, by the exceedingly difficult topography of the country.

While the plans of the Entente Allies are being closely watched here, it is genrally assumed that they are too late to save Serbia. Also the belief is expressed that Bulgaria is throwing its greatest strength into the Vardar Valley in order to prevent a junction of the Entente forces with the Serbian troops, and that the Bulgarians are amply able to hold the valley against any force which the Entente Allies will be able to bring into action before the collapse of Serbia.

TO ABOLISH BULL FIGHTS.

Carranza to Substitute American Game of Baseball, is Claimed.

Carranza, Mr. Carillo said, will shut down on border iniquities as practiced at Juareza, Mexicali, Tijuani and other race tracks of Monte Carlos or concessions therefor.

"Your American game of baseball will be encouraged instead," said the agent.

COUNTY VALUES HIGHER

Assessor Thomas Has His Work Ready For Board of Review to Consider

The assessment of land values in Alexandria county, which has just been completed by Harry R. Thomas, totals $7,742,930, nearly twice the valuation of $4,022,667 put on the same property by W. C. Wibirt, as assessor in 1910. The percentage of increase is 92.479, which means a little over $92,479, added by Thomas to every $100,000 of the 1910 valuation. So next year, when the rate of taxation is fixed, it will produce $192,479 where $100,000 would be produced, for schools, roads, light, walks, care of the poor, of public health etc., on the present valuation.

Mr. Thomas appears to have done his work in the most painstaking and conscientious manner, justifying Judge Thornotn's soundness of discretion in his appointment. As was inevitable, however, there will probably be found some errors in valuation, such as were found and much talked of in the work of Mr. Wibert, and his associates, five years ago. It will be the duty of the local board of review to go over the field and make corrections and adjustments in the manner directed by law.

The local board of review consists of Messrs. W. C. Wibert, E. Wiley Stearns and D. N. Rust. It has already had several meetings, but their work will now begin in earnest.

The law under which they will work was passed at the special session of the legislature, and gives them power to review assessments of real estate and to hear and determine complaints of taxpayers and public bodies with respect to equal or unjust valuation and to direct correction.

W. N. Lipscomb Unearths Enormous Amount of Bonds, Stocks, Etc. In City

More than $5,000,000 worth bonds stocks, and other intangible personal property, owned by residents of Alexandria city and not reported by their owners for taxation, have been unearthed by W. N. Lipscomb, examiner of records of the sixteenth judicial circuit, who has just filed with the local board of tax review his report of omitted intangible property for the past five years. $5,305,925 is the exact sum on which Mr. Lipscomb reports should have taxes assesed. In the list are included the names of about 50 of Alexandria's richest and most prominent business men, and several women, who have failed to report their wealth.

The local board of taxation has gone on record as opposing the consideration of omitted taxes at this time and will defer their consideration until after the current assessments have been disposed of.

WAR KILLS "THE PASSION PLAY."

It is suggested that the present war will completely eliminate "The Passion Play," and that its production in past decades will be matters of history. The Richmond Times Dispatch in speaking of the play says:

The European war has played havoc with "The Passion Play" of Oberammergau. The man who took the part of the Christus is said to have been killed in battle. His name was Anton Lang. He was a potter in a village in upper Bavaria made famous the world over by a little band of men whose daily lives resemble to some degree the lives o fthose who followd the Saviour of men in His walks, and who were with Him in His betrayed. but most of whom forsook Him at the hour of His crucifixion.

When the play was given in 1900 and again in 1910, all roads traveled by tourists led to the little town. When it was last given Anton Lang was selected to play the same part ten years from that time. He was first selected because of his many amiable traits and because of his striking resemblance to Christ as painted by the great limners.

When the war-came, Lang was forty-one years old, but he was not called to the colors for some time later. When he did go, it was for Germany, and when asked how he could reconcile that act with the character of the Nazarene whom he portrayed with such fidelity, so far as the world knows, he is said to have replied that Christ taught men to obey the laws of the land, and to Lang there was but one land, the Fatherland, and he took up arms in its defense.

It is the irony of history that many of the characters of the world famour play went to other wars. Franz [illegible] the Right in the east in the organization of the [illegible] a soldier [illegible] sion [illegible] war in 1870.

At the same time, Joseph Mayr, the Christus before Anton Lang, was drafted as a gunner in the Bavarian army. There is a story that Ludwig II., who was a patron of "The Passion Play" and an admirer of Mayr, had the old Christus sent to a garrison, where he would not become an active participant in the slaughter.

In the Franco-Prussian War, thirty of the minor characters of the play went to the front. Four were killed, two died in hospitals, the fate of the others was never known.

Many stories, now of little interest, of this war will be written when all is over. None will appeal to the world more than that which will tell how the conflict made another "Passion Play" impossible, for it is not likely that it will be attempted in this generation if ever.

STORY OF THE WEDDING RING.

The gold from which Mrs. Galt's wedding ring is to be made is to be taken from a California nugget, which has been secured for the purpose. When President Wilson shall slip that emblem of their union upon her finger it will in our day bear a pleasant significance, as the act does when those in humbler walks of life are united in matrimony. Many, however, are not aware of the fact that originally the ring was an emblem of slavery and that when a man placed one upon a woman it meant that he had captured her and that she was his property,

The story of the wedding ring isn't a pleasant one because it leads us back to those horrible days when women were their husbands' slaves, and were captured and carried off with iron rings around their necks.

As men became more civilized they no longer put chains or rings upon women, but they used instead a symbol of the chain to indicate their union with the women they married. This symbol is the gold wedding ring. The use of the wedding ring can be traced to pagan days.

THIRST FOR BLOOD.

Prince Leopold of Coburg, nephew of King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, was burned with acid and wounded with a revolver by the daughter of a Vienez police captain. The woman committed suicide by shooting. The prince is likely to lose his sight.

The war fever is animating both sexes. Dispatches from Servia show that women are fighting side by side with men, while in our own country a few days ago members of the weaker sex, with babies in their arms, were participating in riots incident to labor troubles, in one of the large cities.

Women have always taken part in wars. We read of Jael killing Sisera and of Tarpeia opening the gates of Rome to invaders. The history of Miss Van Lew in our country shows the determination of women at times. One of horrors of the French revolution was the appearance of women with the mobs. They beat drums and many showed themselves to be animated by the spirit of Jezebel of old.

OPPOSES TAXATION METHODS

"To undertake to compel banks to disclose for the purpose of taxation the complete list of their depositors and the amounts to their credit, in my opinion, would drive millions of dollars from State and would prove extremely unpopular," says Oliver J. Sands, president of the American National Bank, of Richmond, Mr. Sands is chairman of the taxation committee of the Virginia Bankers' Association, and took a prominent part in the recent agitation for the reduction of the tax on bank depositis.

State taxing authorities, it is stated, have applied to the Attroney-General for an opinion as to their right under the present law to compel banks to furnish them, for the purpose of taxation, full data on money deposited with them by their customers. Mr. Pollard's opinion, it is understood, is in the course of preparation, and will be submitted this week—probably by Wednesday.

"While the State, by legislative enactment, could probably compel banks to disclose this information," said Mr. Sands, "I doubt very much if taxing authorities have the power under the present law to require the furnishing of this information. If they have, their powers, in my opinion, would certainly not extend to national banks.

"The national banking law provides that no one shall be authorized to examine or inquire into the records of national banks except the Comptroller of the Currency, an examiner commissioned by him, Congress itself, or some officer delegated by a court of justice. This law would probably act as barrier should an examiner of record make an attempt to secure the suggested information from a national bank.

"Such a practice would undoubtedly be resented as unduly inquisitorial and the attempt to follow it would result in driving from the banks of this State millions of dollars in deposits.

"It is always to be remembered that it is easy to keep money on deposit elsewhere. Fully two-thirds of the States of the Union impose no tax whatever on money on bank, realizing that to do so has the tendency to drive capital from the State into other States, where no such tax is imposed

"Virginia bankers believe that every man should pay his taxes; that he should pay the tax now imposed by the State on bank deposits, but I am certain they will be opposed to an inquisitorial practice."

WEALTH OF THE CZAR

(New Century).

The Czar is above all odds the richest person on earth. In Siberia alone he possesses 12,000,000 acres of land, much of it in mines producing gold, malachite and emeralds. In the Caucasus, the Crimea and other parts of his empire he has tracts of land which give him altogether a territorial fortune of 17,000,000 acres. In addition he has 1,560 flour mills upon his estates, 800 manufacturing plants and 100 workshops. He and his family own also the best vineyards in the empire. In one year the income from these vineyards amounts to several million dollars. In the century from 1797 to 1897, the united possessions of the Romanoffs all of which the Czar has absolute authority of sequester to himself if he so desires, had increased to $300,000,000; so increased in the intervening eighteen years that its estimated income today amounts to $12,000,000 from a total capital of billions of dollars. As absolute, autocratic head of the Russian church, the Czar can claim ownership too to billions of dollars' worth of jewels and golden treasures deposited in the cathedrals and churches throughout the empire.

GREAT ARMIES OF THE PAST

(New Century)

Ancient Thebes, it is said, could send 10,000 fighting men out of each of its hundred gates.

Linus the Assyrian king, in the twenty-second century B. C., led against the Bactrians 1,700,000 soldiers on foot and 200,000 mounted.

The old historians credit Xerxes with land and sea forces counting up to 2,416,100, with enough attaches, hangers-on, women, sullers, etc., to make a host of more than 5,000,000.

Artaxerxes had at one time, before the battle of Cunaxa, an army nearly a million and a quarter strong.

Darius of Persia brought more than a million soldiers to Arbeal.

Tamerlane is said to have met Bajazet's 1,400,000 with a force of 1,000,000.

Terah, King of Ethiopia, had a million soldiers to call to his standards.

Compared with the extended battle line of today in Europe the array of forces at ancient Canna was but a skirmish formation. There were 86,000 Romans and allies against 50,000 Carthagenians.

Hannibal is recorded as having destroyed 300,000 men during his campaign in Italy. Just before his time that country could send a million men into the field.

Three hundred persons were killed in the recent Zeppelin raid on London according to persons who arrived in New York from that city yesterday.

A cabinet crisis in Roumania is said to be imminent, owing to the resignation of several of the ministers who oppose Roumania's intervention in the war. This is taken to mean the nation will join Bulgaria against the allies.

Seven members of one family were instantly killed and an eighth was fatally injured yesterday by a Grand Trunk passenger train which struck an automobile at Fraser, sixteen miles from Detroit, Mich.

His body, with the mouth gagged by two handkerchiefs and with the head cut in many places, was found last night when the police hammered down the locked door of his room. His pockets had been rifled but the police doubt that robbery was the only motive for the crime.

Alexander Kirk, secretary to the American Embassy in Berlin, sailed from New York on the Red Star liner Finland, bearing important dispatches, Mr. Kirk arrived last week n the Ryndam with official documents and immediately left for Washington. He refused to discuss his hurried trip or state its nature. In Berlin, he is said to have brought to this country documents which could not be instrusted to cable and telegraph companies. He is understood to have taken with him on his return trip correspondonce of the same importance.

"The financial situation in England is far more serious than the British people realize." This significant statement was made yesterday by Edward Shearson, of the New York banking firm of Shearson, Hamill & Co., who returned on the American liner St. Paul. "The daily cost of the war is enormous," he continued. "But despite this I think the war will last another eighteen months at least. At a rough estimate, I think the cost of the entire war, including property damage, will reach $300,000,000,000.

Secret Service men and detectives in New York yesterday unearthed what they declare to be a gigantic plot to blow up munition plants and steamships. Two men, alleged leaders of the plot, were arrested in a wood at Grantwood, N. J., At he time they were testing a small bomb, filled with tri-nitrate toluol, the highest and most deadly explosive known. In a series of raids immediately after the arrest of the two men the police captured and confiscated twenty-five pounds of tri-nitrate of toluol, more than enough to blow up the entire island of Manhattan.

Reports from a German source affirm that the Greek government is permitting Bulgaria reservists who wish to return to Bulgaria to travel free. The same source states that the Greek government has ordered that former Premier Venizelos discontinue his relations with the entente powers, threatening him with explusion. A message to a newspaper of Rome says that the entente powers presented an energetic note to Athens and have fixed a period for a reply.

The Russian forces which landed on the northern coast of Courland prowed stronger and more numerous than the Germans supposed and they have been pushing forward since Saturday morning. The Germans are reported to have retired from several important points. Owing to the presence of British submarines German naval co-operation with the land forces in the Baltic is said to be impossible.

Bessie Gordon was drowned and Floyd Clutter is missing as the result of the capsizing of a canoe in which they were riding on the Ohio river near Parkersburg, W. Va., yesterday. Will Buskirk, who was in the party, was rescued after releasing himself from the hold of the woman, who had pulled him under the water twice. Nothing is known definitely as to Clutter, but is believed he was drowned.

Railroads in Pittsburgh, have arranged to move some 4,000 Italian reservists from West Virginia and Western Pennsylvania, who have been ordered to join their regiments. Small bodies of 100 or less were sent to New York every night last week, but it is planned to move the main body in four special trains not later than next Wednesday in order that they might immediately embark on the waiting steamship.

Frequently the police blotters record cases of suicide to unrequited love for some fair damsel, but yesterday for the first time, they contained the name of a man who sought solace by asphyxiating gas because his affection for twins was not returned as ardently as he wished. The victim of the triangle was Peter Markus, Peter it is said was in love with twin sisters, who failed to return his affection in the measure he craved. They say that several times Markus, who was 18, threatened to kill persons who spoke to the twins.

Burke McClure, the mountain bandit who killed his beautiful wife and her cousin, Mrs. Gertrude Johnson, and wounded another woman and a man at Christian, Logan county, West Virginia, Friday night, was shot to death by deputy sheriffs at Oceana, Wyoming county, yesterday.

He was employed as a laborer on the work train, working at the time at Virso. He attempted to cross over a car filled with hot cinders. The car was of the hopper type, with trap doors in the bottom for dumping the contents of the car. As Lewis stepped across the trap door was opened, and he fell into the cinders. He was instantly covered with them and smothered and burned to death.

The General Says:—

"There are some very good reasons why my business is bigger each year than it was the year before."

Some years ago asphalt roofing was sold at high prices because the volume was small and facilities were limited.

When the General entered the field he broke up the high price combine by taking advantage of all possible manufacturing economies, thereby reducing production costs to the minimum and at the same time making a roofing of unexcelled quality.

Eventually the General became recognized as the leader of the entire field, and today the best known and largest used brand in the world is

Certain-teed Roofing

The General's big success brought about an attempt by others to imitate his policies and prices, but they didn't have the General's wonderful facilities, nor his superior equipment, nor his big organization, and it was an economic impossibility for them to equal the General's quality and price. Consequently with the reduction in price there was a big reduction in quality, and these lower quality roofings began to be sold under labels that had formerly been used on better goods.

Today the market is flooded with low quality roofings, made to sell at cheap prices without regard to the service they will give.

When you roof your building with Certain-teed you have a responsible manufacturer's guarantee of 5, 10, or 15 years according to whether the thickness is 1, 2, or 3-ply respectively. This is your advance assurance that Certain-teed will give you at least a definite guaranteed service. Beware of guarantees without responsibility behind them.

Certain-teed products are used and well known the world over. Consult your local lumber and hardware dealers. They will quote you reasonable prices.

FOOD CRISIS IN GERMANY

Thousands of Persons Battle Daily For Small Quantities of Food

New York, Oct. 25—In spite of the official assurance of the German government's confidence that it is able to cope with all problems growing out of a shortage of food supplies neutral travelers returning from Germany declare that the food crisis in Germany is almost serious and that while the Kaiser's armies are fighting successfully all the leading powers of Europe, the Germans at home are experiencing very bitter suffering as a result of the ever-increasing prices of food products. The shortage in necessary articles of diet is acutely felt, according to these travelers, throughout the empire and riots of grave proportions are occurring in the leading cities.

These statements are borne out by the German newspapers, which have been permitted to publish accounts of the scenes in the markets. Some of these newspaper accounts are forwarded by a correspondent in the following dispatch:

"Berlin, via. Amsterdam and London, Oct. 22—The Berlin Vorwaerts, the leading organ of the Socialist party says:

"It is no exaggeration to say that in Berlin thousands of persons are battling daily for a small quantity of meat and lard. The battle is none the less intense, because it is not fought with weapons or even hard words. It is a battle when persons are compelled to expend time and strength all through the damp cold autumn night waiting for a scrap of meat. Yet what happens to the thousands who, day by day, wait outside the shoss in the municial center for the sale of meat and fat. Masses of people crush together long before the opening hour of these places in their eagerness. As soon as the markets are opened, they nearly tear the clothes off one another's backs in order to get the coveted treasure."

The Taeglische Rundschau says:

"Towards noon, day after day, a motley crowd assembles at the doors of these buildings. It is composed, not of soldiers in field gray, but of shame-faced drab men and women, ancient, wrinkled, shriveled little grandmothers, old men, young women and children, armed with the most grotesque receptacles. They take their stand there and wait patiently for an hour and a half, sometimes in a pelting rain, until the cookhouse sweeper appears carrying a huge saucean containing an impossible medley, the leaving of the soldier's dinner, piece of fat meat and bone, bread, potato and table offal of all kinds, an unspeakably sloppy mess. At his appearance a momentary sparkle of anticipation lights up the faded eyes and the poor old bodies as they hobble forward to present their pots and pans. The younger and more robust among the waiting crowd, however, soon elbow and push them aside with the result that they go, as they came, with their hands as empty as their stomachs. Then they try again the next day until they collapse."

The food shortage is not confined to Berlin. According to the Tagablatt, the commissary have difficulty supplying troops at Galipoli.

Further details of rioting at Aix La Chapelle and other towns in the western part of Germany, at Cologne Coblenz and Treves are printed in the Rheinische-Westfalische Zeitung.

"We want no more butter and egg battles such as have disgraced the public market place in this ancient city," the newspaper says, "notwithstanding the provocation the excessive prices of food may cause the average householder. At the present rates, butter and eggs are placed entirely byond the reach of the average person. A woman flung some butter into a dealer's face; thus opened the battle. Seizing horse radishes and carrots men and women, bombarded each other with such war-like style that blood began to flow. In their fury some of the combatants even danced a war dance amid baskets full of eggs. A horse harnessed to a market wagon was deliberately smeared all over with butter. Lumps of high priced butter were stuck by the rioters in the hats of well-dressed women who had come to buy that commodity with cries: 'If we are not able to eat butter and eggs no one shall.'"

The Munchner Nachricten devotes columns to the alarming conditons in the brewery industry owing to the shortage of malt.

Berlin, Oct. 25.—The Vorwaerts, which is continually warning against the danger of exaggerated optimism, says in a recent issue:

"It is a dangerous sophism to insist that Germany has been able to feed her entire population during the present war, though the import of necessaries of life has been practically stopped, and to add that we should feel deeply thankful to the German farmers for having shown such great ability to produce what we need, thanks to wise custom protection.

"Quite on the contrary, it must be said that the feeding of our population has not been assured in a satisfactory manner through our national resources.

"It has been shown, beyond the shadow of doubt, that it is utterly impossible, as agriculture now stands here, to obtain from German soil the quantity of foodstuffs absolutely needed, and that it has been found impossible to feed the necessary number of cattle for slaughtering without importing fodder from abroad.

"Our resistance on this point may evidently be prolonged for a long time, but it is only at the cost of public health, which is being gradually ruined by these privations. It is also at the cost of our national stock of cattle, which has now become so greatly reduced that it will take many years before normal conditions return, and especially before the small farmers are able to get back their stock."

CALLED NEGRO, GETS $3,800

Tennessee Engineer Sues Lodge To Which He Belongs.

Bristol, Va., Oct. 21.—Because the question was raised as to whether or not negro blood ran in his veins, and he was forced to take a run he did not desire, I. S. Cousins, a member of the Clinchfield Lodge of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, at Erwin, East Tennessee, brought suit against the lodge in the Federal Court at Greenville, seeking to recover damages in the sum of $15,000 for alleged libel. Cousins won in his contention and was this week awarded damages in the sum of $3,800.

It was revealed in the evidence that the lodge had written a letter to officials of the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio Railway, charging that Cousins was not a full-blooded white man and demanding that he be removed from a preferred to a nonpreferred run. The railroad authorities acceded to the wish of the lodge and Cousins was transferred. The jury decided that Cousins was a white man.
